

REPUBLICAN VICTORY SURE

GOOD NEWS FROM ALL OVER COUNTRY IS RECEIVED

Excitement At a High Pitch In New York Where Contest Is Warm.

GOOD WEATHER PREVAILS.

An Unusually Large Vote Will Be Polled Throughout the Land.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Exceptionally favorable weather seems to insure an unusually large vote in this city. Balloting started in a rush as soon as the polls opened. The service of a thousand warrants sworn out by Superintendent of Election Morgan began early in the day and there was a steady stream of prisoners from the polling places to police courts. In nearly every case in the first three hours, however, the prisoners proved their right to vote and were permitted to go back and deposit their ballots.

John D. Rockefeller was among the early voters.

Charles E. Hughes, Republican candidate for governor, voted shortly before 8 o'clock. Hughes was greeted with cheers as he approached the polling place.

When he voted Hughes walked to his home. Hearst sent the following telegram early today to the state committee of the Independence League:

"We will have at least 200,000 plurality in Greater New York. I feel our chances up state are very bright. Thanks to your efforts and the efforts of your friends that there is only one possible danger and that is that an attempt may be made to count us out up state, as they counted us out in this city last fall. I urge you to take extraordinary precautions to prevent repeating and especially miscounting."

Dispatches from cities and towns up state indicate a large vote is being polled. Everywhere favorable weather prevails and country roads are in fine condition. In all industrial centers the early morning vote was unusually heavy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—"Get out and vote," is the command for today from political generals throughout the country. A lack of interest in the election is reported from many sections. Favorable weather in the greater part of the country was welcomed by all contending parties. Decided uncertainty as to the results of the balloting is the feature of the closing campaign news from nearly every quarter. This uncertainty is manifested in New York, Pennsylvania, Chicago and other sections by vigorous continuances of the campaign until midnight last night.

President Roosevelt left the White House at midnight for Oyster Bay, where he votes, and will return to Washington, reaching here at 6:15 tonight.

Bryan concluded with a speech in behalf of the fusion ticket at Plattsburgh, N.Y., yesterday.

Vice President Fairbanks, as well as a majority of the members of the cabinet, all of whom have been on the stump are at their voting residences today.

Reports from the "Solid South" indicate that there is little interest and necessity of stimulating voting.

Missouri and Tennessee present interesting situations and both parties concluded the campaign with confident predictions of success.

Massachusetts kept the fight warm until the last minute and Boston until midnight.

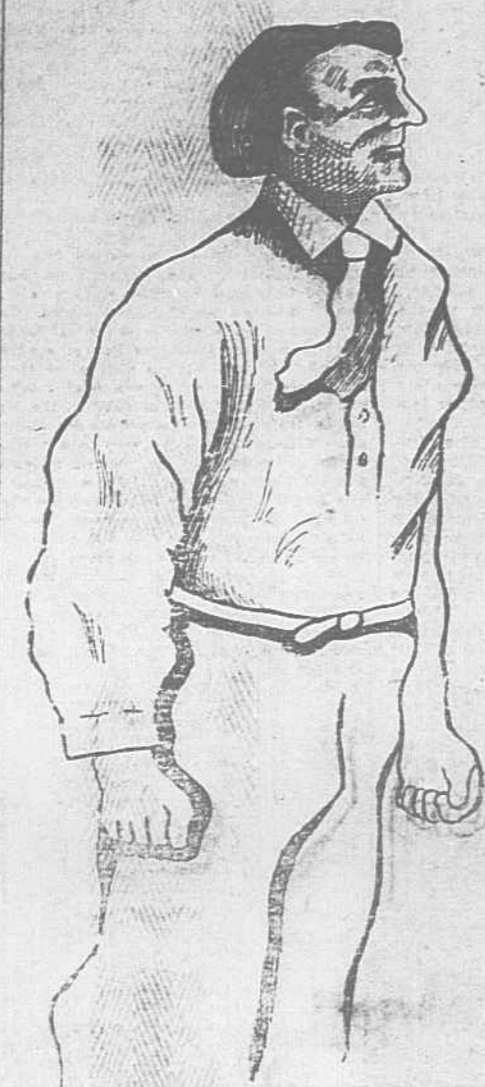

In Indianapolis, Buffalo and several other cities voting machines are being used and as they make an automatic count early returns are expected.

In New York City and Chicago the ballots are ponderous and with the prospect of many scratches a long delay in arriving at the results is predicted.

(By Associated Press.)

CHARLESTON, Nov. 6.—The voting here is the first under the new registration law and many unregistered voters registered at the polls, causing considerable delay in the polling of votes. Weather fair and warm.

Now It's Up to You, Mr. Voter!

THINGS TO BE REMEMBERED

- Vote for continued prosperity—Vote for Republican Congressmen.
- Remember 1893-1896 and the days of industrial gloom.
- Remember 1893-1896 and the home comforts which were wanting.
- Remember 1893-1896 and the wives and children wanting clothes.
- Remember 1893-1896 and the thousands of capable mechanics looking in vain for work.
- Remember 1893-1896 and the delusive promises made by the Democratic party in the campaign of 1892.
- Remember 1893-1896 and the fulfilled promises made by the Republican party in the campaign of 1896.
- Remember 1893-1896 and the landlord waiting at the door for the rent money, which could not be provided.
- Remember 1893-1896, when the mine whistle failed to blow for another day's work, another day's pay.
- Remember 1893-1896, and the countless number of women and children waiting, faint with hunger, for the bread which never came.
- Remember 1893-1896 and the heartickness, the worry, the unpaid and unpayable debts, and all the many ills that attend the man out of work.
- Remember 1893-1896, and the hundreds of thousands of laborers walking the streets from sunrise to sunset, looking for the work which could not be found.

REV. ARBUTHNOT'S PRE-ELECTION SERMON

Some people have misconstrued the article in the issue of this paper yesterday about the pre-election sermon preached by Rev. S. K. Arbuthnot, at Goff Methodist Episcopal church Sunday night. In the heat and rush of the closing campaign some are prone to grab things in a superficial manner and sometimes unintentional impressions are created.

In justice to Rev. Arbuthnot, it may be here stated that he did not directly advise the members of his congregation to vote the Republican ticket, or the Democratic ticket, or the tickets of the Prohibitionists or Socialists, yet his unstinted praise of President Roosevelt and his policies, and his plea for a continuance of the era of prosperity we are now enjoying, lead one inclined to Republican beliefs as well as some of those opposed to them, naturally to suppose that he desired the Republican party to win out.

It is not the intention or province of this paper to publish a falsehood but on the contrary to carry the light of truth into all dark corners and it may be that over zealousness to this end sometimes, as in this case, brings about a misapprehension.

We therefore gladly give space to the following:

Clarksburg, W. Va., Nov. 6, 1906.

Editors of Clarksburg Telegram: Sirs:—In your editorial comment upon the sermon preached by Dr. S. K. Arbuthnot, at Goff Chapel, Sunday evening, you do him and the church of which he is the minister, inexcusable injustice.

He said nothing indicating his preferences for any party, or the principles of any party, or the candidates of any party, nothing to which the most sensitive partisan of any party could reasonably except. At the outset, he declared his purpose and adhered to that declaration throughout, not to advocate any party, any party principles or any party candidate. It is true he named all of the local candidates and after so naming them, he declared it to be the duty of every voter to make his own selection from the men presented for the different positions for which they sought election by the people, and that too without any such suggestion on his part, as your editorial states, and he made no such suggestion.

In other words the editorial misrepresented his utterances on that occasion. If you did it under a misapprehension you will certainly be willing to correct it as publicly as you made the editorial. If you did it with the view of serving your party, we regret that the party must resort to such methods for its success.

We heard the sermon and believe ourselves as competent as you are to judge of its character and we emphatically say it was misrepresented.

CHARLES MILLER NOT THIS MILLER

Editor Telegram:

Sir:—Since the arrest of a fellow named Miller and published in your paper, it has been supposed to be me (C. R. Miller). Will you please modify in your paper so the public will not think it is me. I was raised in Gilmer county and I am known to be a painter instead of an accused robber.

Respectfully,
C. R. MILLER.

At the Bijou

The Bijou, Clarksburg's family theatre, is running one of the best pictures that are to be seen, entitled "The Silver Wedding." Don't fail to see this picture. It gives the history of a bold robbery and the capture of the thieves in a sewer, one of the most excitable scenes ever shown from a moving picture machine.

High School vs. Broadus

The Broadus and High School football team are playing at the local ball park this afternoon. There is a good attendance and as the teams are in good shape the game is proving very interesting.

Mrs. U. G. Showalter and daughter, Miss Pearl, who have been in Baltimore visiting Percy Showalter, who is a student at the Baltimore Medical College, for two weeks, will arrive home Tuesday evening.

REALISTIC STORY OF THE WHEAT PIT

"The Pit's a Hit." So speak the "ads" that have been widely posted about the city, and the voice of the out-of-town dramatic critics have substantiated the saying. That is exactly why the performance of "The Pit," which takes place at the Grand on Nov. 8, is looked forward to with interest. As for the play, it is a dramatization of Frank Norris' novel and the greatest of productions by William A. Brady. The scenes of the play center in and around Chicago, giving a view of the lobby of the auditorium on opera night with the performance in the distance; the lawn of a mansion and a broker's office.

The main incidents of the novel have been followed closely: Curtis Jadwin, a business man of Chicago, wins Laura Dearborn as his wife, but neglects his home for the excitement of business. Mrs. Jadwin is about to accede to the proposals of an artist who had formerly been her suitor when the husband enters, a ruined man. The husband's distress rekindles the old spark of affection and saves the wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis, of this city, have returned from Fairmont where they visited friends.

ELECTION RETURNS BY TELEGRAM AT OPERA HOUSE

Through the courtesy of Manager Robinson, of the New Grand opera house, the Daily Telegram has made arrangements to receive all the election returns by a special private wire of the Western Union Telegraph Company at the opera house this evening and the friends and patrons of the paper are cordially invited to be present at the opera house, this evening to hear them. There will be no admission fee.

GILMORE MAKES A HIT IN WHEELING

Paul Gilmore in the new college play, "At Yale," was at the Court theatre, says the Wheeling Intelligence. The star is himself a favorite while the much praised vehicle in which he is appearing united in bringing together the largest audience of the season at the Court and the production might be said to be the best of its kind here this season. It is chuck full of action and thrills all of which reach a climax in the big race scene when the two rival crews are seen pulling with might and main, the landscape is flying past at a great rate and then Yale gradually forges ahead and takes the race. This race is a feature of the production and almost equals the chariot race of Ben Hur for realism, while it so successfully aroused the enthusiasm of the house that a number of cries for Yale could be heard during its progress.

Otherwise the play is a typical college production, though in it is a good plot, and a strong vein of humor. Gilmore is excellent in the role he portrays. Henry R. McCain as Burley is well drawn, while Miss Leona Ball, the girl in the case, is charming and capable in the part. The cast is an unusually large one and is all well balanced, while the scenic investiture is elaborate.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Nuzum, of Clarksburg, and niece, Miss Mary Lee Ryan, of Denver, Col., spent Saturday and Sunday here the guests of Mrs. M. A. Nuzum, on Locust avenue and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Sample, on Fairmont avenue. Fairmont, West Virginian.

FINE CLEAR WEATHER BRINGS OUT BIG VOTE IN CITY

Early in the Morning Party Workers Begin Working For Their Favorites.

VERY LARGE MAJORITIES

Are Assured Candidates On the Republican Ticket From Top to Bottom.

Election day in Clarksburg dawned with a heavy fog resting over the entire city but the sun came out bright and strong and soon the mist was cleared away. The party workers were out early in the morning and considerable interest was displayed on both sides in getting a good heavy vote out early.

The favorable weather and the interest shown indicates that a good vote will be polled in the city and the same indication would seem to hold good in the whole country.

Sentiment at the voting places seems largely favorable to the Republican ticket and there is every assurance that the candidates of that ticket will win out by handsome and even increased majorities. Hubbard will have about 1,900 plurality in Harrison. Ashburn will have about the same. Charles M. Hart and Marcus L. Riblett will have at least 1,500 majority. Uncle Ben Stout will easily have a majority of 1,900 or 2,000, and Cyrus E. Webb will have a majority of 2,000.

NEW SCHEDULE OF B. & O. NOV. 25

The local railroad men have received word that the new time schedule on the B. & O. will become effective on Nov. 25, which is somewhat later than usual.

Of course there is nothing known definitely in regard to any changes that may be made, as some that had been contemplated may be reconsidered.

It was generally talked about for several weeks that there would be a radical change in the line of No. 55, and that it would arrive here from the east about three hours earlier, but it is now said that the officials have reconsidered and it is doubtful if that change will be made.

From all accounts there will be some radical changes on the O. R. division.

REPORT OF THE HUMANE SOCIETY

State Humane Agent, R. H. Brown, of Morgantown, is working on the biennial report of the society, which consists of 75 typewritten pages, and will be completed this week, ready to submit to the board of trustees to be held in Charleston next week.

For the two years ending Oct. 31 the society received 234 children by voluntary surrender, 19 by order of court and 16 by abandonment or desertion, making a total of 269 received.

Of this number 144 were placed in private homes, 38 placed in children's homes, 44 girls sent to Home of Good Shepherd, 14 girls sent to industrial home, 4 boys sent to reform school, 2 children placed in colored orphan's home, and 18 remain in detention home and 6 died.

At the Odeon.

The Odeon was well patronized last night. "The Hooded Traveler" and "How Jones Lost His Roll" drew considerable crowds. They are both very comic, producing a laugh a minute. Don't miss it.

Banks Closed

The banking institutions of the city are closed today, election day, as under the state laws election days are holidays. Paper money on this day may be tendered to banks.
